

This is mixing double crochet going down with single crochet as row 6.

Yes... you can go deeper down to W6 and beyond but caution, it gets a little more complicated for each row you add going down.

Waterfall Stitch symbols can be mixed whereas the hdc symbol can also be whatever the designer designated for the stitch.

In some examples online, the top row of the waterfall stitch can just be single crochet but the rows below are double crochet that is filled in. It will change your starting of the stitchwork when this happens. Be sure to read the designer's stitch abbreviations to clarify.
